COUNTY PLANS $150,000 AID TO HOSPITALS

Council members voiced some disagreement with the plans of York County council to grant Toronto hospitals $150,000 for building programs. If the county council passes the grant, Newmarket's levy will be $1,644, approximately two-thirds of a mill. Reeve Lundy, who is warden of the county council, explained to the council that the grant was an alternative to having a county hospital. He said that the city hospitals handled a large percentage of county patients and under these circumstances, the hospitals had asked for aid from the county. "If we do not help the hospitals, we will be put in the position of having to build a county hospital for county patients and that would involve an outlay of $1,000,000," he said. Council objections arose when the York County hospital was not named as one of the hospitals that would receive part of the grant. "The hospitals are receiving their share of the grant on the basis of the number of county patients they have," said Reeve Lundy. "York county hospital has already received considerable help from the county." "York county hospital should receive a large share of the grant if it is to be distributed on a percentage basis," argued Councillor Joseph Vale. "We do not object to aiding the city hospitals, but we do feel if the sharing of the grant is being made on the basis of the percentage of county patients handled by each hospital, York County hospital should come first since it handles a considerably higher percentage of county patients than the others." "You will find that the local hospital has a low percentage of county patients," replied Reeve Lundy. "I have seen the figures and I know."

Smoke From Camp Said Damaging To Washing

"I have been receiving complaints from the residents of Strigley St. that smoke from the camp is damaging their washing," Chief Constable James Leeder told council Wednesday night. "They are only bothered when an east wind blows the smoke along the street." Reeve F. A. Lundy, who was acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, asked whether the chief constable had reported the complaints to the officers at the camp. "I have, but nothing has been done about it so far," declared Chief Leeder. "There is no question about it, the smoke is oily and dirties the clothes," said Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans. Councillor A. V. Higginson, as chairman of the property committee, was instructed to communicate with the camp regarding the abatement of the nuisance.

Two Commissioners For Hydro To Be Elected By Town

The annual by-law setting the date of the municipal elections was passed in council Wednesday night. The by-law is the same as in other years, setting the nominations for Nov. 23 and the elections for Dec. 3, but in addition to the election of the council and three school trustees, Newmarket voters must also elect two commissioners for the Hydro Electric Commission. N. L. Mathews, K.C., solicitor for the town, said the council had the choice of setting up a commission to administer only the hydro, or as an alternative, setting up a public utility commission which would administer water as well. "There are two disadvantages to the public utilities commission," he said. "In the first place, the administration of water by the commission would prevent any profit from returning to the town for town use. Last year, the town made a profit of $4,000 on water and it was a help to the town budget. That surplus, under the administration of a public utilities commission, would be retained by the commission in a sinking fund and the town would not have the value of it. "The other disadvantage is that a hydro commission can be set up by by-law. A public utilities commission can only be set up after a favorable vote of the citizens. This would mean a delay in the municipal vote."

Former Principal Speaker At N.H.S. Commencement

Commencement exercises will be held at Newmarket high school tomorrow night. A banquet is being prepared for the graduating class, following which there will be presentation of prizes and a dance. There will be three numbers by the junior glee club, four numbers by the senior glee club, Robert Koffend will give a piano solo, and Helen Epworth and Beth King will give a piano duet, vaudeville and a Reta Horner. HOG RAISERS TO MEET HERE

W. J. Wood and George A. Wilkinson, both of Alliston, will be the speakers at the public meeting of hog producers of York county to discuss the hog marketing scheme which is being sponsored under the Farm Products Control Board of the provincial department of agriculture. Mr. Wilkinson is the local board member representing district three which includes York county. Mr. Wilkinson will outline what is intended by the marketing scheme, and be available for questioning by the local producers. The scheme will be voted upon by the registered hog producers in the province. Hog producers are asked to register either in writing or in person at the office of the county agricultural representative. A producer must be registered before he may vote. A two-thirds vote in favor of the scheme is required to put it into force. Ballots will be accepted by the agricultural representative to Dec. 8. The scheme provides for a negotiating committee of hog producers and processors which will determine prices and methods of marketing. Hog producers and processors will be licensed under the scheme. Under the definition of a hog producer, anyone who has produced a hog for marketing is entitled to vote on the scheme providing he registers. In order that the fullest representation of hog producers be had, it is being urged that all producers register and vote on the scheme.

Break Window, Two Doors, Safe, Get Only Small Sum

Thieves broke into the high school Monday night and took a small sum of money from the safe in the principal's office. The theft was discovered early Tuesday morning by Alex. Hughston, school janitor. Entry was made into the school by breaking a window in the fifth form school room. Once inside the school, the thieves were forced to break out of the classroom by smashing the classroom door. The door into the principal's office had to be forced before the thieves could reach the vault. Once inside the principal's office, the thieves were foiled in their first attempt to open the safe. The handle of the safe was broken but the safe door withstood their efforts to open it. Entry was finally gained by breaking into the wall beside the safe and then breaking through the safe wall. "The damage done by the thieves in breaking into the school was more than the actual cash loss," said Mr. Lockhart. "The thieves could have just as easily earned the same amount of money by working honestly for it."

SITE LEVELLED ON QUEEN ST. FOR INDUSTRY

Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridges committee, was given permission to have the two concrete abutments removed from the town property north of Queen St. by the council Wednesday night. "The property has been levelled by bulldozers and the two abutments are eye-sores," he stated. "They will have to be removed eventually if the land is to be used." "You would only be criticized if you didn't move them," said Councillor Joseph Vale. The site has been suggested as a possible industrial site. At the last council meeting, Mr. Bowser was given permission to have the Metropolitan right of way levelled and the low land filled in. The site, running north from Queen St. east and east from the C.N.R. railway, was reported to have attracted the attention of an industrial concern. With the view of making it more attractive, work was commenced in levelling it. "The site is now as smooth as a billiard table," said Mr. Bowser. "Air drills would remove the abutments in a couple of days. Dynamite was suggested as the best means of razing the concrete but I am told by experts that the air drills will do the job just as well."

WE DIDN'T REMEMBER

"At the going down of the sun and in the morning We will remember them."

The pity of it was that we didn't remember. We didn't remember why they fell, the men from the hills and plains of Canada, from its rivers and its forests, its cities and lonely plains. We remembered them only as names. In honor to them we raised stone memorials and revered the poppy. In honor to them we will bow our heads Sunday morning at 11 a.m., 27 years after the signing of the Armistice which ended the first world war.

We remembered their names but we didn't remember why they had to die. So this Sunday, as we bow our heads 27 years after the Armistice was signed, we will remember new names, the names of those who died in another war because we didn't remember why their fathers died.

We will remember Vimy and Ypres, Caen and Ortona; and remembering these places remember also the opportunity the men who died there bought for us, not once but twice, of creating a lasting peace founded on respect of human dignity. When we bow our heads Sunday morning, let us do so in rededication to that purpose made sacred by their passing.

ARENA OPERATOR SHOULD BE SALARIED

The Memorial Arena committee of council met Monday night to discuss the terms of the contract under which the arena would be operated this year. Although it was a committee meeting and as such, not open to the press, it is understood that it is proposed to offer the arena operator the same kind of contract as was offered before, a percentage contract by which the operator takes his earnings in terms of a percentage of what the arena makes.

This type of contract seems to us as being completely contradictory to the avowed intention of the council when it asked the ratepayers of the town to vote in favor of the purchase of the arena. The arena, it was then said, was to be run as a non-profit concern. It was the intention to make it a community centre where there could be free skating for children. It was to run as a community enterprise with every emphasis on the provision of community entertainment at the lowest price.

By placing the operator of the arena in a position where his season's earnings are dependent on the amount of money he brings in for the arena, the emphasis is thrown on the making of money, not the provision of free entertainment. How can the arena operator earn his salary if he provides free time to the schools and pre-school aged children? In order to make his living, if he is paid on the percentage basis, the operator must seek means to bring in money to the arena, and in doing so, defeat the original intention behind its purchase.

It might be fairly argued that payment of the operator on the percentage basis is the only way of ensuring that he will be on the job. However, it is quite possible to provide for a basic wage with the additional payment of a percentage of the rink profit. In this way, the operator is in a position where he can provide free skating time without starving in the process. Or as an alternative, he could be compensated for the free time that he provides.

Last year, the main burden of the complaints directed against the arena management was that there was not sufficient free time provided for children. There were promises that this would be rectified. Yet the arena committee has gone ahead with the same kind of contract this year which, if anything, is directed against cutting down free time rather than extending it.

We don't know what prompted the arena committee to adhere to such a policy as a percentage contract for the arena operator in view of these considerations. If it was on the grounds of economy, the committee is to be congratulated on its spirit of thriftiness but at the same time, committee members should bear in mind that thriftiness can be overdone. The committee members have apparently forgotten that they are empowered to spend money for the benefit of the town just as much as they are required to save.

BEST BRAINS?

Reading the Oct. 31 Hansard report of the proceedings in the Senate of Canada, we were reminded of the statement made by one of the senators at a time when the Senate was being harshly criticized as a useless body. In the senate chamber, the honorable gentleman declared, is gathered together the best brains in Canada. The Senate proceedings of Oct. 31 are a pointed commentary on the truth of the statement.

On Oct. 31, the Senate met as usual. Following prayers, there was a report from the committee on public health and inspection of foods. The report read: "Your committee recommends that their quorum be reduced to three members. All of which is respectfully submitted."

Two private bills were given their first readings, following which, Senator Wishart McL. Robertson arose to give notice that he was going to propose an adjournment the following day to Monday evening, Nov. 12. Senator A. D. McRae protested this at some length but was opposed by Senator Haig who while agreeing that long adjournments were to be discouraged, thought that they were better than sitting in the chamber with nothing to do.

Following this discussion, Senator Vien took the floor to repudiate assertions made by a fellow senator which, Senator Vien considered reflected on his (Senator Vien's) honor. With this matter settled, Senator McGeer was reprimanded for saying that the Senate "is the finest old age pension club in the world" at a political meeting the night before. Then the Senate passed some divorce bills and adjourned.

In the course of the proceedings, the "best brains" of Canada passed divorce bills, the odd private bill, heard one committee report, and spent the rest of the time in bickering. The committee report itself is sufficient to show how inadequate the Senate has become. The only conclusion to be drawn from the request to reduce the quorum to three is that no more than that number attend the committee meetings.

The Senate's value is that it serves as a brake against impetuous action by the lower house. As such, it is most important to the functioning of parliament. However, its duties do not rest there. The Senate has an obligation to provide direction in matters which, from political considerations or others, are not touched upon in the lower house. If, as has been said, the best brains in Canada are assembled in the Senate, then surely it can provide a better report of the day's proceedings than the one quoted from.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION

The first consideration of any producer is how best to co-ordinate his production with his market. In line with this, he must also consider the problems of distribution. For example, a fine stand of timber is an asset today because of the heavy demand for wood and wood products. The stand of timber is of no value if, however, the cost of bringing it to its market is too high. It might just as well not exist. Reversing the situation a bit, suppose the stand of timber was easily reached but that there was no market for it. Again it would be useless.

These considerations have great importance for the farmer. Therefore it is noteworthy the Newmarket East Farm Radio Forum in its discussion of the question "How much food should we produce?" urges that production be limited to the demand and that a better system of distribution be instituted.

The limiting of production to the demand in order to keep prices high is the most apparent answer to maintaining high prices and a ready market. This answer does not, however, satisfy the needs of those at home who have not the purchase price that is asked for the products. Either they must go without or else be provided with the products through the assistance of the government.

At the same time, the demand for food products is greater now than it has ever been in the past. The European and Asiatic market can absorb all the produce of Canadian farmers for years to come. But the catch here is that the Asiatic and European markets can not afford to pay the prices asked for by Canadian farmers. What then, is the use of producing for those markets?

Some way must be found by which the differences in price can be equalized and the problems of distribution can be ironed out. There is no reason why production should be limited when there is so much need abroad. At the same time, there is no need for Canadian farmers to receive reduced prices from over-production. No one nation can solve these problems. They can only be solved by all nations working together. Collective action to facilitate the flow of produce from surplus nations to needy nations and provision for the maintenance of price levels is needed now.

KHAKI COLLEGE

The Khaki University is unique among universities. Its faculty and students are soldiers but every effort is made to make them forget that fact. The scholastic functions of the university are the same as any other but the chief value of Khaki University is that it is providing a necessary link between the disciplined life of a soldier and the independent life of a civilian, the more necessary because so many of the students at Khaki University have known only the life of the army since they left school.

The Khaki University is near London, Eng. It was organized by the army educational branch for Canadian soldiers who would be overseas some months yet. It provides the equivalent of first and second year arts and pre-science courses of any Canadian university. A student can take two subjects which would be spread over a 30-week course in a Canadian university in the space of 13 weeks. If the student wishes, he can take as many as three additional subjects for a second 13-week period, giving him the standard five-subject, 30-week course of a Canadian university in 26 weeks.

If the Khaki University provided only academic facilities, it would considerably benefit the men overseas. It does more. It gives its students training for the peace-time problems they will meet. Although students and faculty members are in uniform, no marks of rank nor ribbons of any sort are worn. The only distinguishing marks are shoulder flashes, one color for faculty members, one for students. Military discipline is at a minimum. What there is resembles that of a boarding school.

The soldier accustomed to army life finds it difficult to adjust himself to civilian life because as a civilian, he is responsible only to himself. In the army, there is a rule for doing everything. Food, clothes, and lodging are supplied. The soldier does not have to worry about these fundamental needs. The civilian must provide his own food, clothes and lodging. He must directly concern himself with supplying these needs. Learning to think in these terms is one of the greatest difficulties encountered by the veteran in his transition from army to civilian life.

The Khaki University is playing a major role in lessening this difficulty. By minimizing army discipline and stressing the student's responsibility to himself, the Khaki University is bringing its students the first experience they will have of what it is like to be a civilian. By providing with that experience the kind of education which will enable the students to profit from it, the Khaki University is performing an invaluable function for the veteran.

Ottawa News-Letter

By J. E. SMITH

M.P. for North York

It is only natural that after six years of war, the business of administering war departments should come in for lengthy discussion in parliament. Defence Ministers Abbott and Gibson have spent long hours in the house piloting their estimates through committee. Some constructive suggestions have been made. Many of the questions and delays could be called hair-splitting and much time is wasted.

As far as our defence policies are concerned we are in the transition period. Much time and study is being given to Canada's peace-time military program. Defence ministers have indicated that there is a determination that whatever is done will be along most modern lines, and that close consultation is being made with other powers of the world. It probably will be next session before we get a complete picture of Canada's permanent plans for peacetime military activities. Among suggestions made is one for a two-year term of compulsory military training for all young men. Advocates of this suggestion claim it would pay dividends not only in military preparedness but in a higher health standard and a better type of Canadian citizenship.

Sometimes incidents in parliament are seized upon by one political party or another, or by some section of the press and magnified beyond all reason to appear like major issues. One such this week was the request of Opposition Leader Bracken for the tabling of all copies of orders in council passed by the government since Sept. 6. Mr. Isley, leading the government, made it very clear in a statement to the house that all orders in council passed by the government were available to the house or any member, but that the typing and tabling of them all would entail a great amount of clerical work, much of which was unnecessary. He suggested that the opposition leader or any member go over the index of orders in council passed and indicate any of which copies were desired and they would be supplied.

The point is that many orders in council are of a routine nature and in no way effect public policy, and the leader of the government felt it a needless waste of time and money to make copies of all such routine orders. This suggestion did not meet with the favor of the opposition and a division of the house followed. The government members supported Mr. Isley in his stand and on the division had a substantial majority. Some subsequent editorial comment endeavored to give the impression that government members voted against the supremacy of parliament. Nothing could be farther from the truth, and the implications thus drawn are purely political and made in the hope of misleading the people for political advantage. We have had altogether too much of this in the past by all political parties and I do not think the people of Canada are in any mood to tolerate such tactics today. Any order in council passed by the government is an open book as far as parliament or the people are concerned. Any suggestion otherwise would be as strongly opposed by government members as by members of any other party. Government members did vote against a needless expenditure of time and money to satisfy a grandstand political play.

The senate is showing signs of renewed vitality. Many new and younger members have come to the upper chamber and have not hesitated to raise the question of the usefulness of the senate as a part of our system of government. One of the most outstanding is colorful Gerry McGeer of Vancouver. In a speech suggesting senators should face periodic election Senator McGeer recently said: "At present, the senators are appointed for life, and with a comfortable plush-lined chamber to sit in, it is the finest old-age pension club in the world."

All this gives promise of leading to an interesting discussion here and throughout the country on the necessity of maintaining the upper house. There are some who advocate its abolition, but I think the majority of people taking a thoughtful and carefully considered view would prefer some senate reform which would make it more answerable to the people. Present age of senators ranges from 40 to 92. Senator E. D. Smith of Winona is 92, and Senator Bench of St. Catharines is 40.

Many great problems still face parliament. One concerns the future of the Japanese in this country. There are those who argue on the lofty plane of extending all rights of citizenship to them and others who would banish them from Canada. My personal experience with these people has been very limited but has all been to the good. I have discussed the problem with many others particularly those who have had close contact with many of them in the Pacific coast regions, and their reports are very much to the contrary. I would welcome an expression of views on the subject from any North York constituents who would care to write me.

A resolution on the order paper for consideration suggests granting the franchise to young men and women at 18, rather than 21.

I have received many representations about the proposed revised old age pensions plan. Action on this and many other social measures planned by your government are in abeyance pending conclusion of the Dominion-provincial conference.

Prime Minister King is now in Washington after four weeks in Britain conferring with British leaders. An important and far-reaching announcement relative to foreign affairs is expected on his return to Ottawa next week. The p.m. will be given a hearty welcome on his return. Parliament is poorer in his absence.

THE COMMON ROUND

FURTHER ADVENTURES OF WOOLY

Wooly's many friends have asked me to tell how it goes with her these autumn days. Perhaps I should say "well," or maybe "not so well," it's all according to viewpoint and Wooly's and mine do not always agree.

When I last wrote she had retired behind the dining-room stove, which, no doubt, she thought was a restricted area, but alas! in a moment of weakness, right before Wooly's accusing eyes, I allowed a small neighbor to gaze on her treasures and the deed was done.

She carried the protesting mites to the back door and with growls and what sounded dangerously like swear words, she demanded out.

As the day was fine we gave her her way and with dignity and indignation written large on her speaking countenance, she departed, followed by Snip and Gay, while Amos danced along in the rear like a small Hallowe'en imp.

Several times during the morning I saw them playing in the sunshine, but when I went to bring them to their dinner—no Wooly, no kittens, no Amos! In vain I pleaded, scolded, and finally roared in futile protest, against Wooly's indomitable will.

"No kittens, no nothing," said I, morosely to Mother as I came in. "Would she take them to the barn?" Mother wanted to know. So to the barn I went and there, in a little tunnel between two stacks of magazines, were the small victims of a mother's fear complex. So back to the house for a bowl of food, went I, and being joined on the way by Wooly and Amos, who, no doubt, had been laughing at my efforts to find the kits, I had the satisfaction of seeing the family enjoy their meal.

All went well for about ten days, then came a night when the temperature dropped and dropped and the man of the house, coming in, said "pretty cold for those kittens." "Wooly!

won't let them come home," chanted Mother and I like a well trained chorus.

The next morning, when frost made a fine showing, I said, with what firmness I could muster, "something will HAVE to be done about those kittens," and just then Wooly came in looking like the cat that swallowed the canary.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself," said friend husband, "enjoying the fire and letting the kittens freeze." Wooly, with a contemptuous glance at him, began a protracted toilet operation, glancing occasionally at the door.

Just then a little bark was heard and a dog friend of ours was asking "any bones or tidbits today?" Going out to give him these, I was amazed to behold Bounce, faced by a tiny grey shape with arched back and every hair on end and, issuing from its depths a variety of hisses and spits like a drop of water on a hot stove. Grabbing it up, I rushed into the house and deposited it at my better half's feet, and rushed out again to see where Gay was. I called and called and at last, from under a basket emerged Gay, trembling and cowering, afraid of Bounce, whose dignity by the way, wouldn't allow him to even recognize the presence of anything so small.

"Well Wooly," said I, "are you satisfied?" And she looked many unspeakable things, one of them, no doubt, being "have I not brought up enough children to know WHEN and WHERE they should be?"

And here they still are, but only because I am larger and stronger than Wooly, for every fine morning she tries sneak tactics to lure them out. So the battle wages—at present I'm the victor, but for how long—who knows!

GOSPEL ECHOES

A Man and His Religion By Rev. G. H. Baile, Pastor Free Methodist Church

To many, religion is merely a human thing, with principles and rules, examples and aspirations. There is no plan for God in their life or room for Him.

The opposite of this attitude is the reliance upon God for everything—the assumption that He will do all for and in, one which needs to be done.

The Scriptures will show how poor and thin is any religion, though it be called Christian, if there is no God in it. They will also show how presumptuous it is to expect God to do for us what we can do for ourselves.

Note: "Sanctify yourselves." There is nothing passive there. "Let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God." There is nothing passive there. "Follow peace

Blue Willow Ware

By GOLDEN GLOW

I have received a request to tell again the story of the Blue Willow pattern on the old-time blue willow ware, so here I am to see what I can do. Of course the story may change in different countries, but the main facts are the same and if you have a blue willow platter in front of you it will be easily seen that the story is identical with it.

At the right hand side of the plate you see the mandarin's castle, a two-storey structure which indicates his wealth and high position. The palace is surrounded by beautiful trees with one towering above the mansion, covered with what appears to be toy balloons, but which is supposed to be an orange tree. The garden looks very attractive, just the place for lovers to walk.

The tree bending over the water beside the bridge is the tree that gives the china its name of "willow ware," for that is the willow tree that is described as the willow that wept with sorrow over the plight of the lovers, the weeping willow, and which later bent its boughs over the water and wept for joy.

You see the bridge with three figures crossing to an island, the "fair maiden," her lover, and her irate father, who follows brandishing a whip. Still to the left, at the top, is the island home of Chang, the maiden's lover, and finally the two love birds hovering over the trees.

The story on the plate is the story of Li-Chi, beautiful and only daughter of a wealthy high-born Chinese mandarin in the reign of the Emperor Hwang, and Chang, one of the mandarin's secretaries, her lover. The story has so endeared itself to every succeeding generation that the blue willow ware is Li-Chi was very beautiful, still eagerly sought for.

She used to walk in her father's lovely garden, and it was there Chang fell in love with her. They used to meet under the shade of the huge orange tree behind the mandarin's palace. Chang was of humble birth and lived in the island cottage you can see on the left hand side towards the top of the plate.

When the mandarin found out that one of his humble secretaries was wooing his daughter right there in the garden, he banished him to his cottage home on the island. He then betrothed his daughter to an aged, wealthy duke called Ta-Jin.

Li-Chi felt that all was over, and she used to sit under the weeping willow tree in the garden and bemoan her fate, and the willow tree bent its branches over her and wept in sympathy with the lovers. One day while sitting there alone feeling very sorry for herself, she spied a little cockle shell boat coming towards her and rescuing it from the water she found in it a love-token, a small trinket that she herself had once given to Chang, and the following message in bamboo paper: "When the willow fades away, And the peach tree growth gay, Tell me sweet-heart, can it be, They will steal my love from me?"

Taking her ivory writing tablet from the pocket in the sleeve of her kimono she wrote: "When the peach tree blooms, sweet-heart, Thou and I must weep and part. Hasten then to take the prize, Ere 'tis seen by robbers' eyes."

Confident Chang would understand, she placed a lighted joss-stick in the tiny craft and sent it back in the darkness. Chang, watching from the other shore, read the verse and his heart with all men, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord." Such passages certainly mean that upon us as moral beings rests the responsibility for our moral and spiritual welfare.

But if one is so through with sin and self that he does all he can to clean up outside and inside, he will find the Lord will forgive the past, change his nature, cleanse his heart, and make him a temple of the Holy Ghost.

We have, then, the man remaining a moral being and master of his own destiny but choosing the Holy One for the over-mastery of his life.

"Religion" means "to bind", and truly in this, the only true religion, man is bound to God and God to man. Here is the human and the divine.

burned with joy. Finding out from the gardener arrangements for the wedding, he hid in the garden to await developments. Noon of the fateful day arrived, and Li-Chi's attendants dressed her in gorgeous silks embroidered with butterflies, which in China are symbols of married bliss, but tired out by the elaborate preparations and worn out by the strain, she commanded her maids to go and leave her alone in the garden. Hardly had the women gone when they returned to say a servant wanted speech with her. Of course it was Chang.

Hastily disguising themselves, the pair took flight, Li-Chi taking her distaff and Chang her jewels. But the mandarin followed them, brandishing a whip. Just as the lash was about to fall on Chang, he cast the precious casket of jewels into the water, and the good geni of the river rose from the water and swept the lovers into the sky, transforming them into two beautiful turtle-doves with their nest in the old willow tree, which drooped its branches again and wept—but this time for joy!

So as all fairy stories should end happily—ours does—and we leave Li-Chi and Chang, now two turtle-doves, as happy as can be, living in the old willow tree. What happened to the old mandarin, and the wealthy old prospective husband the story does not say—and I guess nobody cares. It disposes of Li-Chi and Chang quite satisfactorily and that's all we care about, isn't it?

HUNGER IN EUROPE

By ORVILLE GANTON

Thousands of people will starve and freeze to death in Europe this winter unless help can be rushed from outside. Tens of thousands of others will be hungry and cold and jobless. Without outside help, they will succumb to disease, because their weakened bodies cannot stand up against further hardship.

During the next nine months they must bring in from outside their borders a minimum of 30 million tons of coal, 12 million tons of food, millions of yards of textiles and 75 million dollars worth of medical supplies and equipment.

As a whole, Europe will produce less food this season than during the hungry war years. The land is starved for want of fertilizers, livestock has been slaughtered, supplies of implements drastically reduced, many acres are still sown with land mines. Except for wheat, liberated Europe's chief food needs are for those of which there is a world-wide shortage. The world wheat supply can meet their minimum needs, if transportation can be supplied.

The coal shortage is grievous. In France, homes and public buildings had no heat at all last winter. This winter the best that France can hope to do, even with imports, is to provide hospitals with 65 per cent of their pre-war coal, and each home with about 8 cwt.

The needs of the liberated areas fall into two categories: (1) relief, (2) rehabilitation. There is emergency need for both. Relief supplies would be directly for the people: food, clothing, medicines, shelter, heat. Rehabilitation supplies also would be for the people, but indirectly: to restore transportation, to increase production of food and clothing, to repair houses, to process and preserve food.

Ravaged, ruined Europe needs our help. Her people are homeless and starving, her industries shattered. Canada, through U.N.R.R.A., through special long-term loans and credits, can help restore the economy and lives of our overseas neighbors who bore the full brunt of Nazi enslavement. Combined effort and resources won the war. They can overcome the legacies of the war—chaos, destruction and want.

DOWN THE CENTRE

If old friends count for anything, Stafford Seniors, which will represent Toronto in the senior series of the O.H.A. this year are going to have plenty of supporters in North York, for in the team are gathered together quite a few puck-chasers well-known in these parts. First of all, Red Horner, ex-Maple Leafs defenceman and captain of the Briers golf club, is handling the coaching job. Red Gilbert is in goal and co-starred with him is Herbie Mortimer who guarded the twine cage for Marlboro juniors away back in the mid 30's when the Dukes second team eliminated Bert Tunney's first Aurora group winning team.

The squire of Newmarket camp, and the Al. Schacht of the 1945 softball season, Chuck Shannon heads the blueline bashers for the Toronto team so brother Shannon will not be available for an intermediate team in the district. Chuck has lately received a promotion at No. 23 and having forsaken Pittsburgh Hornets (which is placing accent this season on youth) appears to be quite content in his new environment. The new services ruling makes him eligible for outside competition.

Jack Stafford, son of the sponsor, who played for Upper Canada College against St. Andrew's College and Aurora Tigers in 1940 and afterwards was on defence for the championship Aurora Army team in 1943 before doing a stint with the navy, is another who will give the opposing forwards plenty to worry about. Rhys Thomson, who had a whirl with the Leafs and New Haven and last winter was with Toronto Army in the district services league, is also on hand. Rhys is still in the army and plenty good for amateur. It will be remembered that he played lacrosse the past summer for the Newmarket camp team with plenty of zipperoo.

Up front are a flock of talented performers. Joe Szabo, who centered the Brampton camp team which surprised everyone by downing the favored Newmarket camp team in 1943, is still plenty dangerous. Joe, it will be remembered, led the local group in scoring and the past two winters has performed out of Kingston. He is now discharged.

Don Wilson of Bradford, once the toast of Newmarket town as "Brains" of the Redmen of 1933, has decided to play amateur this winter and concentrate on getting rehabilitated after three hectic years with the R.C.A.F. Don saw service with Canadians, New Haven, and other pro teams. He is a family man now.

George Mara, who, like Jack Stafford, Jr., caused St. Andrews and Aurora teams plenty of trouble, is another signed for duty. Mara has been in the navy and had a brief trial at Owen Sound with the Leafs. Pete Donkin, the speed boy of the Aurora junior squads of 1939-40, is as fast as ever after serving in the navy, and through Billy Mundell who met him at Maple Leaf Gardens, he sends regards to all his friends in these parts. Baltimore was his last stop in amateur ranks.

A surprise to most will be the signing of Sunny Provost, who played briefly with Toronto and Newmarket army teams, and also was with Newmarket juniors. Provost once played junior with Verdun and has improved greatly over other years. He is putting up a great fight for a regular spot.

Mickey Maguire, the crafty centre of the T & S team of 1944 in the local services group and pivot star of the Armored Corps team of '45 which won Camp Borden senior honors, is another soldier who will commute to Toronto for games. Jerry Junkin, who played junior hockey for both Lindsay and Markham against Aurora, is bigger and faster this season and looks exceedingly good. Bill Kelly, last year with Toronto army but better known for his softball ability with Ordnance, Army Drivers and York Depot, is also with the team.

As yet undecided about his future but still practising with Staffords at the weekend is Normie Mann. Last we heard of Norm was that he was employed at a hunting lodge near Matawa and intended to return to Pittsburgh, but the ex-Redman is apparently thinking seriously before going back to the grind again. Mann, while looking a bit older, still has that rosy-cheek, and innocent look which wowed the femme hearts and fooled many an opponent on the ice.

Jackie McLean, ex-Toronto Leafs, Dick Livingston, Bill Wickens, and others are also on the roster. Staffords are grouped this year with Hamilton, Port Colborne, Owen Sound Mohawks, Toronto Varsity which is returning to competition, and possibly an entry from Buffalo which would play its games at Port Erie. Staffords lost their first exhibition tilt to Oshawa Generals last week and tomorrow night, Nov. 9, can be seen at Barrie Arena where they will meet Red Farrell's junior A Rangers as 8.30 chimes. It should be worth seeing.

Also listed for tomorrow night in a classic softball struggle at Maple Leaf Gardens for the sick kids hospital, is a double-header involving the famous Jax team from New Orleans and Toronto's prettiest and best softballers. Included in the latter list is Newmarket's Marj. McCannan, who will be playing second base for Simpsons. At last reports quite a few Newmarket and district fans were planning to see the game. It sets a precedent for the Gardens, although servicemen have been enjoying indoor softball at the Coliseum regularly throughout war years. It works out better than you'd think.

Charlie Rowntree, Grant Nighswander and Jimmy Grainger were all smiles on Saturday afternoon as close to 30 youngsters took to the ice at Ravina rink and gave every indication of providing the Hill with a championship contender. Normie Stundin from last year's team was in the nets, nifty as ever. Red Palmateer will be out for the next practice. Meanwhile a long, lean kid from Marlboros is providing opposition to Stundin. Mac Clement, Herb Rose, Jim Smith, Son. Rowntree, McCrone, Dunn, Billy Mundell, and several Hill bantams were on hand. Mundell, who could still be practising with Marlboros, has wisely enough decided to string along with the Hill where he will see plenty of action and play regularly. His decision was a source of happiness to the Hill management.

Blondie Blakely, who was with Young Rangers last winter, returned to his first love and will stick with the team. With him were Huddleston and another of the good Victory Aircraft squad. Bob Friday and a line which played with Marlboros B team last winter were also on hand as well as some good prospects from Willowdale, Woodbridge, and Toronto.

Dinny Cosgrove, who is always late to take the ice along with Herman Easterhouse, will be on hand later. Johnny Sullivan is definitely lost to the team but the Hill management is not losing any sleep, for while Sullivan has plenty of ability, he has not fitted in too well with the Hill team in other years. Bob Hassars, lanky winger, is as yet undecided as to whether it will be the Dukes or Richmond Hill. Another promising youngster who will be missed is Frank Sullivan, a brother of John. Frank is now enrolled at Toronto De La Salle Oaklands and will be seen in action in the prep school junior B group. The Rowntree boys will practice again in two weeks time, and meanwhile the kids are on their own so far as conditioning is concerned.

Fred Schelke of Gormley, one of Canada's better known racing trainers and owners, is recuperating at his home following a serious operation at York county hospital. Fred appears to be well on the mend. Shepperton will winter at Gormley and will be given some treatment which should make the big grey a potent factor in the 1946 stake races.

Scarboro Rangers, the new junior B entry (possibly junior C when it is all decided) as was predicted exclusively by this column, has booked Unionville arena for the winter, and will play all its home games there. The Rangers are already practising and can be assured of some fair gates at Unionville. Stouffville Juniors, who plan to hold practices early in December on artificial ice, have decided upon black and white as the team colors and the order has been placed for the sweaters. Last color Stouffville sported, if we remember correctly, were gold and red, and their line-up read: goal, Paxton; defence, Morden and Spence; forwards, Nerlich, Redshaw, Brillinger, Baker, Holden, Ashenbush and Anderson.

We note that Russ Spencely, ex-Stouffville player who later played with Toronto Native Sons, is home from overseas. Spencely served overseas for four years, and will probably line up with Brougham Bearcats as well as playing mercantile hockey in Toronto.

Sylvanus Apps, who has returned as captain of the Leafs this winter after being on army duty in Canada two years, has taken another task this winter. Apps succeeds Joe Primeau as coach of Upper Canada College Prep school team which will be seen locally against St. Andrews. Primeau is handling the St. Michael's College junior A team, and last winter shifted to U.C.C. when the prep school games came along even though St. Mikes Buzzers were playing in the group. It should make it better for all concerned this way. You can depend on it there will be plenty of autograph seekers and admiring youngsters around the Aurora rink when Apps comes to town. At that the kids can't be blamed for Syl is a mighty fine fellow, and as an example for clean living and sportsmanship can't be beaten, except possibly by Joe Primeau.

By request we compared a jump of 14'2" made by Diane Cole of Agincourt in the junior girl's running broad jump event at the recent meet between Stouffville, Agincourt and Markham secondary schools. While Diane's jump is plenty good and better than that being made at most schools in recent years, it is definitely not a district record. The record for the event was made in 1930 by Miss L. Armstrong of Richmond Hill with a leap of 14' 10 1/2". The senior record is only half an inch better. It was made by Elizabeth (Continued on Page 8) home or skyscraper IT'S AS OLD AS ITS ARTERIES!

• The life-carrying arteries of a building are its electric wires. The size and number of wires determine the amount of electric power that may be used at any one time. As electrical devices multiply, and new uses call for increasing quantities of electricity, any building, regardless of when it was built, is only as young as the ability of its arteries to carry the load.

A home that is wired only for lights and small appliances must be rewired before it can provide such comforts as an electric range and water-heater. If not wired for all requirements, it is "old" until it is rewired to carry modern loads, with plenty of outlets and switches. The economical time to wire properly is when a place is being built or remodeled.

A proper standard of wiring in an office or factory will advantageously affect production and profit. Employees do better work with less fatigue when lighting levels are of approved standards. Adequate wiring also provides for modern electrical equipment.

Your Hydro is planning to provide you with the electricity you will need for peacetime prosperity and comfort. Be sure that you plan also to enjoy these benefits in full, through adequate wiring. Your Hydro will be glad to give you information about wiring:

FINED $50 ON CHARGE OF ASSAULTING OFFICER

Clarence Wilson, Sutton, was fined $50 and costs or 30 days on a charge of assaulting Constable Carl Morton by Magistrate W. E. McIlveen in magistrate's court here Friday. Accused was also fined $5 for refusing to produce his driver's license. A charge of dangerous driving and one of careless driving were dismissed by the magistrate.

After hearing the driving charges first, Magistrate McIlveen dismissed them on the grounds of insufficient evidence. Constable William Hill testified that on Oct. 1, he was called to the scene of an accident three miles west of Sutton. He said he found a truck driven by accused in a ditch. N. L. Mathews, counsel for accused, argued that there had been no traffic on the road and that the accused's manner of driving had not been dangerous to others.

Testifying on the assault charge, Constable Morton said that he had arrived at the scene of the accident before Constable Hill. "I saw accused was under the influence of liquor," he said. "While I examined the truck, accused swore at me. I didn't say anything."

"I asked accused for his driving permit. He refused to show it to me. Then he laid his glasses on the side of the road and approached me. I said that he was in enough trouble now and not to make it worse. He continued to approach me and when he was close enough, he swung his fist at me but missed. I hit him with my fist. He approached again and I hit him with my fist. He fell down and then tried to grab my legs. I hit him with my fist again. He still tried to grab my legs and I hit him again."

Cross-examined by Mr. Mathews, Constable Morton said he had been at a nearby house when the accident occurred. "What had you been drinking?" asked defence counsel. "I wasn't drinking," replied the officer. "There is bad feeling between you and Wilson. You called him a name." "No," "I suggest that you kicked him after you knocked him down." "That's not true."

Thomas Horner testified that he had been present when the officer examined the truck and said that accused had sworn at the officer and had refused to show him his permit. "He said 'I'll show it to Billy Hill,'" Horner testified. Cross-examined, Horner said that he did not see the officer kick the accused.

Accused, a truck driver by profession and 51 years old, said when Morton arrived on the scene of the accident he had said "I got you this time." "I did not attempt to strike him until after he had hit me," he said. "My back was turned when I was struck. I had walked up to him and when he said to keep back, I turned away and was struck."

Wilfred Graham testified that he was driving on the same road as the accident had occurred on and that when he saw the wrecked truck, he had stopped and offered his services. "I was getting into the car when I saw the officer holding Wilson down and kicking him. I went back and said to the officer to stop that."

Arthur White, driver of the car, corroborated Graham's evidence. Summing up the evidence, Mr. Mathews stated that he thought the assault charge should have approached me. I said that he was in enough trouble now and not to make it worse. He continued to approach me and when he was close enough, he swung his fist at me but missed. I hit him with my fist. He approached again and I hit him with my fist. He fell down and then tried to grab my legs. I hit him with my fist again. He still tried to grab my legs and I hit him again."

"He is allowed to use force to carry out his duty," replied the magistrate. "The officer asked for the accused's permit. The accused refused to show it to him. He acted in a threatening manner. The officer was protecting himself."

Pleading guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, Earl Scarlett, Aurora, was fined $10 and costs of $3. Constable William Martin testified that he stopped the accused's car in Newmarket on Oct. 12 and found accused in possession of a bottle of liquor, part of which had been consumed.

A charge of stealing a quantity of sod of a value over $25 against N. Holbeck, 5th con., Whitchurch, was withdrawn upon payment of costs of court and payment for the sods. Allen S. Gray of Whitchurch testified that in September he came across the accused loading sods on a truck on his mother's farm. He stated that a great many sods had already been taken away.

Neither he nor his mother had ever given the defendant permission to take the sods, he said. Accused said that he had purchased $30 worth of sod from the witness' father in 1944. He had paid over the money but had not received a receipt as he was not accustomed to demand receipts from those to whom he paid money, he said. He said he did not know when he took the sod that the witness' father had died in March of this year. He stated that he had dealt with Mr. Gray, Sr., for a number of years and had purchased wood, sod, etc., from people in the district for the last 15 years.

Two witnesses stated that they had sold wood, etc., to the accused for many years and had never given him a receipt upon payment of money.

Found guilty on a charge of failing to stop his car and render assistance after an accident on Sept. 15 on the Dalton Road in Sutton, Harry Stone, Brownhill, was fined $25 plus costs amounting to $18.50.

According to Harvey Taylor, North Gwillimbury township, he was driving on Dalton Road when the accused, who was driving in the opposite direction, side-swiped his car causing damage amounting to $12. He stated that accused stopped his car but was abusive and drove away before the police arrived without giving his name and address.

Mr. Herbert of Egypt, Ont., testified that he had been waiting to back his car out of a driveway when the accident occurred. He verified the former witness' testimony that the accused did not give his name or address.

Accused said that he had been trying to avoid a collision with a car backing out of a driveway when he side-swiped Mr. Taylor's car which was passing at the same time. He stated that he stopped his car to see if there was any damage done but did not give his name and address as he thought Mr. Taylor knew who he was.

Mrs. Audrey Stone, Brownhill, charged with failing to register change in address with the department of highways, was remanded a week for judgment. She said she had since sold the car.

A 14-year-old boy was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving without a permit. Chief Constable James Leeder laid the charges.

Mrs. Minnie Pattenden, Toronto, and Miss Mabel Pattenden, Aurora, were weekend visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Pattenden.

Miss Margaret Quickfall, Toronto, was a weekend guest of Miss Ruth Oliver.

James Oliver was taken to York County hospital on Saturday suffering from a dislocated shoulder. While trying to close a large barn door it knocked him down and pinned him underneath.

Mrs. Herbert Oliver heard the dog barking and was able to move the heavy door.

Dix, Washington United church, Scarborough, gave the evening sermon. Wesley choir supplied special music in the morning and Lasky choir in the evening. Both services were well attended.

Other memorial windows to be dedicated will be in memory of Mrs. W. D. Richardson, William Graham and Clifford C. Carr. This makes ten stained glass windows in this attractive rural church and completes those on the main floor.

Council Rejects Plan To Purchase Hickson Property

The extension of Aurora streets was discussed at length by Aurora town council Monday. For some months the committee in charge and members of council have been considering various propositions to improve traffic in town and to open up new building areas in the municipality.

Councillor William West reported that Charles Cook had agreed to donate sufficient land to the town to allow the completion of Gurnett St. south to an extension of Kennedy St. It will be necessary for the town to install a six-foot pipe to allow drainage of the town creek south of Gurnett St., and this work will be done this fall. In the spring the street extension will be completed. Council agreed that in consideration of this, taxes on proposed building lots on the property would not be increased until such lots were sold. A further development, expected to materialize later, would be the extension of Gurnett St. south from Kennedy St. to Cousin's Lane.

On a recorded vote of 6-2, council turned down a recommendation of the committee for the purchase of the Cleve Hickson property on Wellington St. The proposal was to extend Spruce St. south to Wellington St. in the spring, after removing the Hickson residence.

"We have been talking of eliminating bottle necks and parked vehicles. The purchase of the property and using it as a street would enable traffic to move north and south off Yonge St. Eventually you should be able to travel from Mark Ave. to Cousin's Lane. Councils in the past tried to secure the property in vain. We have the chance now and may not get it again," said Reeve C. E. Sparks.

"It is a matter of values. Do we need this worse than a community hall or a health nurse? Prices are high for property today, and we are going to have some large expenditures in town in the future," said Mayor Ross Linton. "I don't see how the plan would relieve traffic very much. It would be all right for local residents, but I feel there are too many twists and turns," said Councillor A. N. Fisher.

"The only deviation would be a slight one at Wellington St.," said Mr. Sparks.

"We are trying to build up a factory area near the C.N.R. station and this would provide a means of travel for large trucks which might go there," said Councillor Dr. Crawford Rose.

"I think the price is high, but why not secure the property now, and if we decide not to go ahead with the plan we could sell it later," commented Councillor R. V. Smith.

"Councillor West and I are thinking of the benefit of future years," said Mr. Sparks.

"It will cost another $2,000 to make it into a street," said Councillor Elwood Davis. "To alleviate traffic a person would have to know the route. It is not long ago we wanted as much traffic as possible going through town to benefit business."

"I am calling for the yeas and nays there is bound to be quite a bit of discussion about this," said Mayor Linton.

Clerk A. C. A. Willis recorded the votes as follows: Yeas, Reeve Sparks, Councillor West; nays, the mayor, Deputy Reeve Cook, Councillors Fisher, Rose, Davis, Smith.

"The committee have done a good job. They shouldn't feel we are letting them down," commented Councillor Rose.

Council received a letter from Charles Wilmot, executor of an estate, which owns property in the path of a straight extension of George St. south to Kennedy St. Mr. Wilmot proposed a new plan whereby the extension would deviate about 20 feet. The planning committee will consider it but it was felt that it was not likely to solve the question properly.

150 PRESENT AT H.-S. ASSN. FIRST MEETING

The first Home and School Association in Aurora was organized on Tuesday night with J. G. MacDonald acting as chairman, when 150 residents gathered at the public school to hear Mrs. R. K. Hall, Toronto, past president and organizer of Home and School Associations. Dr. C. J. Devins addressed the meeting and told the gathering that the board had employed Mr. Forsey Page, Toronto architect, to draw plans for the new school.

Officers elected were: president, Mrs. L. C. Lee; vice-president, Mrs. John Ardill and Mrs. Herbert Stocks; recording secretary, Mrs. Hugh McRae; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robt. Hodgkinson; treasurer, Mrs. Abt. Stoltz; executive, J. G. MacDonald, Miss Genevieve Robinson, E. J. Buchanan, Chas. Copland, Mrs. Crawford Rose, Mrs. C. R. Boulding and Mrs. W. S. Mills.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

With a second-half blitz that could not be denied, St. Andrew's College defeated Trinity College, Port Hope, 27-10, before a crowd of nearly 2,000 on Saturday, thereby annexing its first Little Big Four rugby championship since 1939, and its third title in the past 19 years.

S.A.C. pulled a surprise quick outside kick in the first quarter, which caught T.C.S. napping and Gord Middleton raced 45 yards for a touchdown, which was not converted. Trinity got that one back late in the second quarter as Sinclair wound up with a 30-yard gallop on an end run. The score was 5-5 at the half.

In the third quarter, the Andreams made the most of opportunity with Blake Taylor hoofing two singles for a 7-5 lead. Recovering a blocked kick on their own 40, St. Andrew's staged a march down the field which ended with Taylor going over for a major which Shortly converted.

A few minutes later on a combined flea-flicker pass and end run, the visitors scored a touch but failed to convert. Middleton got his second major of the day in the fourth quarter as he plowed over from the 15-yard stripe, Shortly converting. Taylor booted another point, and then Shortly took a pass and raced 30 yards for a touch on one of the prettiest plays of the day.

Officials were: referee, Tommy Meyers; umpire, "Blondie" Jackson; head linesman, C. R. Blackstock.

Coach Horace Kendall can be justly proud of his charges who after Saturday had a record of 191 points with 31 against and no games lost. The team is big and fast, and presents three brother combinations, the Smiths, the Erringtons and the Middletons. The Smiths are twins. In addition the ace backfielder, Blake Taylor, has a cousin, J. E. Rhame, playing on the team.

The winning line-up consists of I. F. Flemming (capt.), J. W. Saylor, C. W. McCauley, G. W. Eccleston, L. J. Errington, J. L. Shortly, E. C. Frey, J. D. Malcolmson, W. Errington, I. D. Sholfield, F. A. McKenzie, all of Toronto; G. C. Middleton and H. E. Middleton, Huntsville; J. F. Smith and A. M. Smith, Welland; C. B. Taylor and J. E. Rhame, Galt; W. R. Howson, Sarnia; M. J. Carle and D. J. Collett, Victoria, B.C.

The team received weekends following their win, and it is expected a gala celebration in their honor will be held at a later date.

Mayor J. M. Gibson of Gravenhurst inspected the Aurora sewage disposal plant and inquired into the workings of the local system as well as cost of construction and maintenance on Saturday. Mayor Gibson was accompanied by Clerk A. C. A. Willis on his inspection and said he was much impressed with the Aurora system. Gravenhurst is planning to build a new sewage system and is gathering data throughout Ontario.

See Need To Spend More County Money On Local Hospital

Aurora council on Monday night approved the expenditure of $150,000 for hospital grants by York county council at the November session of county council. A letter was received from the county requesting the municipality to forward its opinion and all the council voted in favor of the grant.

The grant is being made to hospitals which are building additions and are used by county residents. Under the schedule the cost to Aurora in next year's county levy will be $1,225.50.

"I don't see York County hospital on the list but I am sure these other hospitals are all used from time to time by our citizens as well as the rest of the county. Personally, I would rather see the money going to York County hospital," said Mayor Ross Linton.

"Yes, York County hospital needs an addition of 30 beds right now," said Councillor Dr. Crawford Rose. "They use the hospital from all over the county and it is crowded now."

"York county got a good grant for building last year," said Reeve Sparks. "This year they will get a straight grant but it is for those who are building additions. It will be approved in council without doubt. We are not going to have much to say about it."

"There is going to be a spending spree for hospitalization in the next few years," said Deputy Reeve A. A. Cook. "The present method of taxation for such purposes is not fair. The property owner pays and those who have the means but don't own property escape."

"Many of our people use hospitals in the south. We spent only $297 on public health last year in Aurora. There should be no hesitation in approving it," said Councillor Rose. "In addition to hospital space more nurses are needed, we need more at York County hospital right now."

Later in the evening health again came to the fore when Councillor William West asked what had happened the proposal to engage a Victorian Order nurse. "We were off to a good start, when the matter of whether it should be a V.O.M. nurse or a public health nurse was referred to the department of health. Their report said it was not expedient to establish a public health nurse in Aurora, and actually gave the green light for a V.O.M. although it was interpreted differently by many," said Councillor Rose.

"I still think it would be a wonderful thing to have here, and I would like to see it started again," said Councillor R. V. Smith. "The weather was against us the last meeting we had."

"Why not let the people decide on it," said Councillor West.

"Yes, a vote would show the feeling of the people. There is doubtless some opposition and it would need proper organization to put over the plan," said Mayor Linton.

"A layman should take the lead in the matter. A Home and School club is being organized and should take a lead in the matter. It will be a good thing for the town," said Councillor Rose.

Councillor Smith was instructed to contact various groups and sound public opinion on the matter and bring in a report at the next meeting.

Expect Traffic Light In Use By Christmas

"We expect to have the stop-light at Yonge and Wellington Sts. in operation by Christmas," Reeve C. E. Sparks reported to council on Monday night. "We had expected it to be operating in October, but we are unable to get delivery of the equipment as expected, especially the cable, before December."

Council was advised by the Ontario department of highways, that no by-law need be passed to govern the erection of the light, and that the department concurred in the erection of the light.

Harvey C. Rose, county engineer, wrote the council that the Toronto and York Roads Commission would contribute 20 percent to the cost, estimated at

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS TOUR OIL REFINERY

On Friday afternoon, the chemistry and geography classes of Grade 12 at Aurora high school, accompanied by N. F. Johnson and Miss Aileen Belyea, journeyed by bus to an oil refinery plant at Clarkson. The pupils were taken on a conducted tour of the plant, and were given pamphlets and refreshments. Aurora is the first high school to have visited the refinery, the other visitors to date having been from universities.

POPPY DAY SATURDAY

Poppy Day will be held in Aurora Saturday under the auspices of the Aurora War Veterans Association. Citizens are urged to buy a poppy.

There is still quite a bit of ground to be covered if Aurora is to reach its objective of $235,000 in the ninth Victory Loan, and canvassers are urging those who have not as yet purchased, or who could purchase more, to come forward. At press time the Aurora total was close to $200,000.

On Monday evening, Aurora council authorized the purchase of $1,000 in bonds by the waterworks department. The department now has $6,000 in bonds.

The Sisman Shoe Company has reached its objective of $20,000, Mayor Ross Linton announced on Tuesday. All Aurora industries have now gone over the top and workers and servicemen and women have presented a challenge to the rest of the town.

BY-LAW WILL EASE TRAFFIC ON YONGE ST.

Upon recommendation of the streets committee, the town solicitor, Lorne C. Lee, will draft a by-law to deal with the parking of transports and trucks in front of the business block on the west side of Yonge St., and thereby eliminate the present custom of double-parking and the creation of a traffic hazard.

"We inspected the rear of the business block on the west side of Yonge St. and there is no reason deliveries can't be made at the rear of all stores south of Caruso's lane. We would have to see it was kept clear of snow, and fixed up a bit, but it would be a worthwhile project," said Reeve C. E. Sparks.

The committee's report criticized the condition of certain of the premises at the rear of Yonge St. and instructed the clerk to write the occupants informing them if the ash heaps and debris were not cleared up in two weeks time, the town would have the work done and charge it against the taxes on the property. The feeling was that the clean up of these premises would aid in the use of the rear for deliveries.

The use of the rear for deliveries or the eventual establishment of a street at the rear would lower the risk of accidents, decrease the present fire hazard, make for freer traffic on Yonge St., and improve sanitary conditions, the report stated. It would be to the benefit of both businessmen and truckers, it was felt.

"The merchants are in favor of it. We must see what steps are needed to make it possible for a street there," said the mayor. Council will inquire into the possibilities and work that would be needed.

WM. A. POWELL DIES SUDDENLY AT STATION

William A. Powell, Harrison Ave., died suddenly Monday. Mr. Powell had made his mail collections and was at the C.N.R. station when stricken with a heart seizure. He died before medical aid could reach him.

Born in Whitechurch township of a pioneer family of the district, his parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Powell, and he farmed near Vandorf until moving to Aurora 23 years ago. He was employed for 12 years at the legislative library, Toronto, and then joined the staff of the county sheriff in Toronto. Two years ago he retired and took over the mail collection duties to keep active. He was a member of Aurora United church and served as an elder of the church. In politics he favored the Conservative party.

Surviving are his widow, the former Minnie Atkinson, and one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Giles (Jean). Mr. and Mrs. Powell recently celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary.

Planning For Markets Urged By Farm Forum

The Newmarket East Radio Forum met Nov. 5 at the Mc-Nern home.

The broadcast was from Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, at the Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) conference. H. H. Hannam, president of the Federation of Agriculture, presided. This was a clear, concise discussion on "How Much Food Should We Produce?"

Forum findings: The first cause of hunger and malnutrition is poverty. It is useless to produce more food unless people and nations provide the markets to absorb it. Want in the midst of plenty may be prevented by (1) limiting production to approximate effective demand; (2) by developing machinery of distribution which will convert existing unlimited nutritional needs into effective demands; (3) by a combination of both.

The forum group were unanimous that glutted markets may be prevented by a planned distribution to needed areas not only in local areas but on a national and international basis. Present price levels are encouraging, floor prices assist, but subsidies make the farmer uncertain.

tain as they may be withdrawn without notice even when supply was not adequate. Government contracts ensure some security but no one seems able to explain the fluctuation of prices, as in the case of hogs, even under such contract. If government boards were established for hogs and potatoes, for example in this district, there should be some guarantee, as in the case of milk. Government should act as a referee only but a great deal of information on grading and quality as well as price could be gained by both producer and consumer.

A general discussion followed on "How is the farmer to meet the 8-hour day legislation. It may help solve unemployment but without an increase in price, how can he have 8 hour shifts? This increases work in the farm home where no help is available. Mrs. I. Eves resigned as secretary. Mrs. W. Wilmot was appointed for the present. Next meeting is at Stanley Boyd's home.

The project, improvement of the local school and grounds, was reviewed, and in order to finish the grounds, a community bee will be held next Monday. It was also resolved to ask Mr. Luesby of Newmarket to show his technical slides at the review meeting in the school on Nov. 19.

We hope for a full attendance at our next meeting and extend a cordial welcome to anyone interested.

The bride's mother received in an autumn brown crepe dress with corsage of pink roses assisted by the groom's mother, gowned in a cornflower blue crepe dress, matching accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink roses. A wedding dinner was then served to 45 guests.

The main feature was the cutting of the wedding cake by a German S.S. dagger, trophy of the groom recently returned from Germany.

The bride couple left later for a motor trip to New York State amidst a shower of confetti. The bride travelled in a blue wool dress with brown accessories.

They will reside in Newmarket on their return.

Wilcox of Aurora in 1939. Diane can take a bow for a peachy performance even if not record breaking.

A new record for the district however has been set in the senior girls' running hop, step and jump by Christine Kennedy of Agincourt. Miss Kennedy flew through the air with the greatest of ease to a distance of 28' 10", which bested a mark of 20' 4" made in 1934 by Miss Grace Perkin of Markham high school. Markham, incidentally, won the meet with quite a bit to spare. They were a bit outclassed competing against bigger schools like Aurora and Newmarket for the Eckhardt trophy, but likewise overshadowed smaller schools like Stouffville and Agincourt. The point standing was Markham 249, Stouffville 148, and Agincourt 91.

The Era and Express may be purchased in Newmarket at Spillette's, Best's, Bolton's, Campbell's, Bell's and Carruthers.

BACKACHE
The Plague of Outdoor Men

The outdoor man, whether he be farmer, truck driver, or railway operator, is often subject to backache. This may be the result of exposure to cold and dampness or the result of strain from the jolting and bumping of the vehicle he rides.

To many people, women as well as men, it would be great to be free of backache—one of the most common and annoying of ailments. And here is how you may be relieved of backache and other symptoms of poisons in the blood.

The treatment suggested is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. By reason of their stimulating action on both the liver and kidneys, you have two chances to one of getting relief from your backache by using Dr. Chase's Pills. The torpid liver is aroused to action, the kidneys are stimulated and consequently these organs help to purify the blood of the poisonous impurities which bring pains and aches and tired feelings.

Keep regular and keep well by using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. 35c a box.

Another memorial anniversary has passed in the United church and will not soon be forgotten. Large crowds filled the church both morning and evening, and the visiting ministers, Rev. A. F. Bamford, Zephyr, and Rev. Gordon Lapp, Keswick, gave much food for thought in their inspiring addresses.

The musical numbers by Miss Peggy Woods, Markham, and Mrs. Lyons and her ladies' choir of Scarboro Bluffs were exceptionally well rendered and added a great deal to both services. Baskets of 'mums and ferns were lovely decorations for the church.

On Monday evening there was a concert in the Community hall which was filled to capacity. The ever popular Scotch comedian, Duncan Cowan, and several of the younger coming artists, including the little Morton sisters, were heard. Soloists were Chas. Moorehead and Doreen Lunau, Marie Mitchell and Marion Holstock.

For a number of years the Women's Institute have sponsored a Hallowe'en party for the community and this year was no exception, the town hall was filled with many in costume, both kiddies and grown-ups, for which prizes were given. The judges were Mrs. Geo. Price, Mrs. Herb. Shields and Don Jones. Mr. Price was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Cupples, Mrs. Couper and Alvin Dike were pianists.

The program consisted of a number from each school in the community, and community singing, after which prizes were given. The children were taken downstairs and treated to eats of all kinds and chocolate milk and candy. This is an event looked forward to by all the children and as everyone enters into the spirit it is always a success.

HEALTH NOTES

SCHOOL FOR PARENTS
Thursday, Nov. 1, at 4.18 p.m., a series of broadcasts commenced over CBC, known as School for Parents.

This year these talks will be on mental hygiene as related to family needs and should be of great help to parents in solving the every day problems of the family.

Mental hygiene simply means the health of the mind, and we are realizing more and more its importance. And it is during the grade school years when the child is growing bodily that he or she is growing mentally, and the formation of right thinking habits and right understanding of the important and vital sides of life then, will spell success or failure, happiness or unhappiness, for all the rest of life.

MARY A. BACHE DIES AT KESWICK HOME

Mary A. Bache died at her home in Keswick, Sept. 25, after having been in ill health for a number of years.

She was the daughter of the late Benjamin and Jane Bache and was born on their farm near Ravenshoe where she spent most of her life except the last four years. She was a regular attendant of the Free Methodist church until ill health forced her to stay at home.

Funeral service was held from Keswick United church Sept. 28. Rev. A. B. Moffatt conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Stevenson and Rev. Gordon Lapp. Mrs. Kenneth Hunter sang Some Bright Morn-

Lepard—In loving memory of a dear husband, Charles A. Lepard, who passed away Nov. 10, 1943.

Time speeds on, two years have passed Since death its gloom, its shadows cast, Within our home where all seemed bright, And took from me a shining light.

I miss that light and ever will His vacant place there's none can fill. Down here I mourn but not in vain, For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Ever remembered by his wife.

Liscomb—In loving memory of my darling daughter, Joan Eleanor, who passed away Nov. 7, 1944.

Gone from the earth so swiftly Just like a flower in bloom, So young, so fair, so loving Yet called away so soon.

We shall meet her some bright morning Resting by waters fair, She is waiting for our coming In the upper garden there.

Safe in the arms of Jesus. Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by mother.

Liscomb—In loving memory of Joan Eleanor Liscomb who passed November 7, 1944.

Two dear bright-eyes, a tender smile, A loving heart that knew no guile, Deep trust in God that all was right, Her joy to make some other bright.

If sick or suffering one she knew, Some gentle act of love she'd do; No thought of self, but of "the other."

We know He said "Well done," dear Joan. Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eakins and family.

Liscomb—In loving memory of Joan Eleanor Liscomb who passed away November 7, 1944.

From our happy home and circle God has taken one we loved, She is borne away from sin and sorrow To a noble rest above.

No one knows how much we miss her None but aching hearts can tell; Lost on earth but found in heaven Jesus doeth all things well.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eakins.

Liscomb—In loving memory of a dear sister, Joan E. Liscomb, who passed away Nov. 7, 1944.

What would we give to shake your hand, Your happy face to see To hear your voice, and see your smile,

That meant so much to us. But we cannot shake your hand just now, Your face we cannot see, But let this little token tell, We still remember thee.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by sister, Joyce, and brother-in-law, George.

Liscomb—In memory of Joan Liscomb, who died Nov. 7, 1944. However long our lives may last, Whatever lands we view, Whatever joy or grief be ours, We will always think of you. Always remembered by Helen, Dorothy, Irma and Given.

Liscomb—In loving memory of Joan Liscomb, who died Nov. 7, 1944.

Lovingly remembered by aunt Irene and cousin Betty.
